

Rose Cottage as it was known taken before 1928 as Hillcrest wasn't built then.

After 1928 as the front gate of Hillcrest is showing

Taken before the war and street lights. The 'disc' on the side of the Blacksmith's shop was taken down at the start of the war as it had RAMPTON on it. Note the petrol pump outside Bayes' garden, this was used during and after the war by lorries carrying German Prisoners of war at Headon Clump camp to work on neighbouring farms.
